We also STRIKE for Women* Rights

On the 14th of June 2019, women* in Switzerland will be going on a nation-wide feminist strike!
The first women's strike was on June 14th 1991, when 400 thousand women took the country by surprise.

This time we are many, prepared, strong in our diversity, and we are striking 24th on four levels: professional and paid work, care-work, education and consumption.

Our strike is against all forms of structural oppression, discrimination and violence that are at the foundation of the capitalist and patriarchal society we live in. As such, we fight against racism, sexism, homophobia and transphobia. We fight in solidarity against the double discrimination that migrant women* are faced with in the country we are working and living.
